In presenting this report, permit us to recount briefly some of the more important facts with regard to the committees work. It will be recalled that the Governmental Research Conference, at its eighth meeting, held in Indianapolis in November, 1920, authorized the appointment of a number of committees on special phases of governmental activity with which the members of the Conference are concerned. In pursuance of this action, on March 16, 1921, Mr. James W. Routh, then chairman of the Conference, announced a number of committees, among them one on civil service. As members of this committee, he designated the individuals who now constitute its personnel. Only a brief preliminary report was made by this committee at the ninth meeting of the Conference, held at Philadelphia in June, 1921. In this report it was indicated that the committee had decided to concentrate its attention on the civil service commission itself. It was the opinion of the committee at that time, as it is now, that while there are many specific problems demanding attention in the civil service field, any effort to solve them will depend for success upon the body charged with the administration of the employment function of government. Since the ninth meeting of the Conference, the committee has continued its labors along the lines originally planned. Two different questionnaires were formulated and sent to various organizations,...
