Mali is one country in Africa that portrays the typical African image on the type of civilization that rules the people in their respective villages and small towns. A place where things are yet remain natural for easy assessment and study, that is the main reason tourists always come with a great success. Tourism in Mali is focused primarily on its cultural sites, which sets it apart from other African countries with large tourism sectors known for their natural features. Mali is the most endowed in World Heritage sites in Africa. Djingary Ber and Sankore in Timbuktu, The mosque of Djenne, Dogon Country, and Dialloubé were all recognized by the international community through inclusion in UNESCO World Heritage. These prestigious cultural sites added to beautiful landscapes, vibrant and colorful neighborhoods and villages and the central Niger Delta with its earthen architecture and its Ramsar sites that host each year thousands of water birds, the Sahara desert whose beauty, in some places, the excitement grows as you. By its geographical position, its history and culture, Mali is a tourism...
