November, 1902, was so warm the growth Of trees and shrubs was soft and unripe and in very poor condition to stand the severe cold weather of December 8, 9 and 10, which was several degrees below zero. This caused in many cases the killing of various shrubs, particularly Privet hedges. The winter opened with very little snow, March being so warm as to cause buds to swell - and in as advanced a state as they should be in April in fact April and March exchanged places. Strawberries couldn t be kept back by covering as they pushed up through the mulching; then the cold storms and frost killed the first bloom. Later they bid fair to have a crop, when the drouth struck them and nearly dried them up. Then the cold rain came and rotted them...
