Brand New Book  Print on Demand .California, 1972 There was so much arguing going on that June between Rox, Mom and Dad that even with my bedroom door closed, I had very little solitude. During that stormy time, the rink was my only source of tranquility. You see, in my family we were all skaters-ice skaters. Each of us had been competing since we were eight, respectively. It was the last week of school-sis and I had just gotten home when I first heard the news flash. I had just plopped down on my bed worn out from ice skating practice when I flipped the radio on and heard the disc-jockey announce, Local teen found dead this morning up at Rose Hill Cemetery-more after this commercial break. I ran out of my room when the disc-jockey said it was a teen from Rox s school. Heading toward Rox s bedroom, barely meeting up, she nervously hollered out, Jill, did you just hear the news over the radio about the boy up at Rose Hill? Yes, I answered. We both stood there in the living...
