It was ministers, at the intercession of the noblemen they were thus restored. aear However, the pardon was not without conditions of restraint, and articles for better behaviour. cKFi t.d Soon after, the seditious ministers were permitted to return, but not suffered to preach in their parishes. At the breaking A. D. 1597. up of the last general assembly, the king appointed another, to At l assemUy be held at Dundee, in May following. The main business of this meeting was to argue upon the questions undecided in the last. And here things were settled both to the satisfaction of the king and the Church. For instance, the question being put touching the convening of pastors with his majesty s consent, it was declared that the resolution in the affirmative was to reach all assemblies, either general or particular, authorized by his highness s laws, and having warrant in the Word of God. On the other side, touching the furnishing boroughs with ministers, the king agreed, that, when the assembly should think it necessary to fix a minister in any town, he would either give his consent, or a sufficient reason for his refusal. These preliminaries being settled, the following questions were thus determined: --1. Whereas, before the concluding any weighty business, his The pnnrimajesty expects to be applied to for his advice and approbation., X S Collicr i censure on sir Walter Raleigh is perhaps too severe.
