Reviews

Basically no phrases to clarify. It really is written in straightforward phrases rather than hard to understand. You will not sense monotony at any moment of your own time (that's what catalogues are for concerning if you ask me).

Excerpt from Stabilizing Prices of Farm Products: Hearings Before the Committee on Agriculture, House of Representatives, Sixty-Seventh Congress, Second Session, March 8, 1992; Series 0 (Supplemental) Mr. Clarke. Don t be under the misapprehension that we do not have to work down here. Mrs. Radick. We are not objecting to hard work. We are not objecting to putting our children to work; it is one of the saving graces Of the farm to teach boys and girls the value of work and responsibility, and you have the chance to show them that it is not the question of what can I get, but what can I give, but when our boys and girls do that farm work we think we have a right to expect that we should get a reasonable return. How many Congressmen would come back to Congress on the mere chance of getting their salary; would you come back the second year if you did not get your salary for the first, if you were just coming back on the mere chance of getting it?
