Excerpt: .and left behind him records of his beatific visions. What more grandly sublime than the unapproachably heroic, and self-sacrificing life of Michael Angelo? Steadfast, unmovable, strong to endure, mighty in power, misunderstood and solitary save when an angel was sent to strengthen him. An Artist s sympathy with his race must be broad, out-reaching like that of his Master s. If he could catch the most delicate expressions of feeling, and transfer them to canvas accurately, he must be a partaker of the Divine Nature, an apt scholar of the Great Teacher. True there have been Artists of dissolute lives; their works show it; but all these died young, or painted ill when old. Our sensible, practical friend, Mr. Stockstill, asks another question: What is an artist good for? After I have given Rubens Rembrandt the expensive education you advise, and the advantage of Art-school...
