Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from A Commentary on the Psalms of David, Vol. 1 of 3 A year had not elapsed when all who were desirous of purer doctrine, were continually coming to learn of me while as yet but a novice and tyro. I, who was naturally somewhat simple, and was always fond of the shade and retirement, then sought where to hide myself; but this was so far from being permitted me, that all my retreats were like a public lecture room. In a word, whereas the one great object with me was to live retired and undistinguishbed, God so led me about through various turnings, that he yet suffered me not to rest anywhere, until in spite of the bent of my nature, I was dragged forth into the light. And it was for the pur pose of enjoying the repose so long denied me in the seclusion of some obscure nook, that I left my fatherland and retired into Germany. But 10! While I lay hid and unknown at Basle, it happened, since, in consequence of many pious persons having been burnt in Gaul, a ?ame of indignation was kindled in Germany by those fires, that wicked and lying pamphlets were circulated for the purpose of putting it out, which stated that none were so cruelly dealt with but Ana baptists and turbulent characters, who, by their untoward ravings, were undermining not only religion, but all civil order. Perceiving that the object of these crafty instruments of the court was not only that the shameful effusion of innocent blood might be buried under an unfounded slander upon the holy martyrs, but that thereafter they might be allowed to wade through indiscriminate...
