Outskirts Press, United States, 2009. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.This is the story of David and Willow Teeter s interfaith work with Christians, Muslims, and Jews in Israel and Palestine. David explores three intriguing ideas: 1. Can we be both pro-Israel and pro-Palestine, and what does this mean? 2. Can Muslims be followers of Jesus while remaining Muslim, without converting to the Christian faith? 3. What are the prospects of peace? Can Israelis and Palestinians share the biblical Land of Promise in peace? This fast-paced story begins in a Jewish neighborhood in Jerusalem. It concludes in a safe house for Muslim students in Bethlehem. David and Willow moved to Israel in November of 1978. They lived for their first year in a Jewish neighborhood in Jerusalem. They made friends with their Jewish neighbors, while working with Christian Arab educators and pastors. David began a doctoral research project on Jewish-Christian-Muslim relations. He studied Judaism and Islam under Jewish and Muslim teachers. To further this research, David and Willow moved to the Palestinian village of Beit Jala, just a stone s throw from Bethlehem. David taught at Bethlehem Bible College. Willow taught English at Bethlehem University. She began inviting her Muslim students to our apartment in Beit Jala. Students began bringing other students. This soon evolved into an off-campus Friendship Center in Bethlehem. Willow s Muslim students were curious about Christmas. Willow and David put on a feast for their Muslim friends. This became an annual event. It gave them many golden opportunities to talk about Jesus with their Muslim friends. David and Willow learned from their Muslim friends. Their Muslim friends learned from them. Their Muslim friends invited them to visit their families in the rural villages and refugee camps throughout the...
