That refers to old St. James's day, which falls in August. It is impossible for the Chancellor Of the Exchequer, when settling his budget in February, to say what he may derive from the hops to be produced in autumn. Last year, in the month of February, the right hon. Gentleman stated several times over that the amount which he estimated to receive from the growing crop in 1860 was The result has not at all borne out the estimate. The actual amount was and the right hon. Gentleman can calculate upon receiving only a very small portion of that within the financial year 1860-61, as he has been obliged, in consequence of the distress of the planters, to postpone payment to the financial year 1861-62. At this moment he is wringing out of the capital of the planters the arrears still due...
