America in Islamistan: Trade, Oil and Blood

By Abdulhay Zalloum

Paperback. Condition: New. 747 pages. Samuel P. Huntington wrote: The West won the world not by the superiority of its ideas or values or religion but rather by its superiority in applying organized violence. Westerners often forget this fact, non-Westerners never do. Since its independence the United States proved to be second to none in demonstrating its superiority in organized violence as it waged over two hundred wars in its short history since independence. Wars against the North African Muslim States endured over two decades right after independence. At the advent of the twenty first century the United States waged two wars against Afghanistan and Iraq and a global war of terror that was conveniently named War on Terror. The theater of operations of this global war was the Muslim World which we coin as Islamistan. These wars were for gold yet often God was invoked to mislead the innocent non-suspecting population. Crusading for corporations was claimed to be crusading for God. This book explains the relationship between the United States and the Muslim World since independence, and how the US interest evolved from trade to oil and hegemony for which Muslims and Americans shed much blood.
