Milk facts were presented in various ways, the informal play proving perhaps the most popular. On five days notice, teachers in the public schools, building upon the facts in a pamphlet entitled Milk, the Master Carpenter, which is reprinted here, were able to make a splendid showing. What they did without being health or dramatic experts, other teachers can do. Their success marks merely the beginning of a much wider use of the amateur health play. Though some of the authors were teachers of Domestic Science, many were grade teachers. All very generously donated their manuscripts, to make this book possible, and through it to give the plays to the country. Children love the dramatic form and the plays will be found useful in teaching the formation of health habits. The health lesson is made effective when the child who is living the Game of Health - is drinking milk and eating cereal, and fruit or green vegetables daily, sleeping with windows open and bringing weight up to standard - takes in such plays a leading part.
