Springer-Verlag Gmbh Feb 2016, 2016. Taschenbuch. Condition: Neu. Neuware - Thisbook focuses on how to apply network coding at different layers in wireless networks - including physical layer, media access control (MAC) layer, network layer, transport layer. It investigates a physical layer wireless network coding scheme where the relay nodes applies symbol-by-symbol soft decisions on the received signals from the two end nodes to come up with the network coded information to be forwarded. The author explores how to deploy network coding in MAC to improve network performance and examine joint network coding with opportunistic routing to improve the successful rate of routing. In regards to TCP and network coding, the author considers transport layer protocol working with network coding to overcome the lossy transmission , particularly with how to transmute linear combination of original packets in the congestion window and simultaneously generating redundant combinations to mask random losses from TCP. Multicast is a hot application area of network coding at application layer in both wired and wireless networks. The author introduces several multicast schemes at application layer and discusses the advantages of them. The book pertains to researchers and postgraduate students, especially whose interests are in deployment of network coding in wireless networks. 119 pp. Englisch.
