

Interview with CSM Jeff Janke

By Laurence Lessard

BiblioGov. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 26 pages. Dimensions: 9.7in. x 7.4in. x 0.1in. The command sergeant major for the 57th Field Artillery Brigade, Wisconsin National Guard, when the state received a requirement to put together an embedded training team (ETT) for duty in Afghanistan, Command Sergeant Major Jeff Janke volunteered, was mobilized, went through predeployment training at Camp Shelby, Mississippi - of which he discusses both the good points and the bad in great detail - and finally arrived in country in February 2006, taking up his duties in Gardez as the mentor for the Afghan 203rd Corps sergeant major. Janke begins by discussing the overall role of NCOs in the Afghan National Army (ANA) and then, more specifically, how his comparatively young (28-year-old) Afghan corps sergeant major handled the myriad challenges that arose from his position, challenges that were compounded by his relative inexperience but also mitigated by his many positive traits as well. Indeed, said Janke, this was hardly uncommon in the ANA. That was one of the drawbacks for the NCOs in the senior grades: they're not senior in time. In addition, Janke discusses the ANAs need for institutional accountability and...

READ ONLINE
[ 6.14 MB ]

Reviews

The best publication i actually study. We have study and that i am certain that i will likely to study once more again later on. Your daily life span will likely be transform the instant you total reading this book.

-- Mrs. Alene Leffler DVM

It becomes an remarkable publication that I have possibly go through. Better then never, though i am quite late in start reading this one. I am just delighted to inform you that this is basically the best ebook we have study inside my individual existence and can be he greatest book for actually.

-- Dr. Torrey Osinski DVM