

Laughter Under the Bombs Diaries of a Dramatherapist

By Sharif Abdunnur

AuthorHouse. Paperback. Condition: New. 248 pages. Dimensions: 7.9in. x 4.9in. x 0.6in. Laughter Under the Bombs is intended both as a living testimony to the horrors of surviving under war conditions and as a dramatherapy handbook. The book documents day by day a dramatherapist's feelings as the war takes hold in Lebanon in July 2006 and his amazingly successful attempts to set up a safe space for displaced children and teens to participate in drama workshops. These workshops are aimed at helping the youth to deal with the horrors of war and find a way to heal the mental and psychological wounds that mark them long after any physical wounds. We all have heard much of the war through the eyes of the media but this often removes us from the humanity and the inhumane suffering involved on a day-to-day basis. This book takes us through that suffering with individual stories of pain and suffering, yet always emphasises the need to find time and space for laughter to survive such horrors. These documented workshops also resulted in the opening of a theatre production, literally under the shelling, talking about their experiences as they lived them. The internationally acclaimed play, also entitled...

Reviews

This is basically the very best publication I actually have gone through until now. It really is loaded with knowledge and wisdom I realized this publication from my dad and he encouraged this publication to discover.
