The South Wales Coalfield Collection (SWCC) is one of the largest archives of its kind in the UK and of international importance. Based on a screening of the Collection funded by a Wellcome Trust Research Resources in Medical History Award, the volume will be a popular with academic researchers seeking to define viable projects and focus their efforts more effectively; teachers and lecturers wishing to put the SWCC to educational use and members of the general public interested in the medical and healthcare heritage of the Coalfield.
