Brand New Book. Excerpt from Initiation But, of course, Sir Nevill, he had added, with scarcely a trace of an Italian accent, you will find no difficulty in any case. But the rest of the company he did not like so much. It was not that it was different from any other parallel company elsewhere; people screamed and gossiped and smelt of furs and eau-de-cologne, there were meek and trim young men with shining hair, there were tire some old men who bellowed, there were shy girls - fully as much in London as in Rome. Only he had not expected it in Rome, somehow. He had had a faint idea that things would be primitive and quiet here, that he could moon about and look at Basilicas now and then, that he could poke round in curiosity-shops - in a word, that he could be free here, as he could not in London. And he had found the same old parrot-house. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands...
