Brand New Book. Excerpt from Self-Culture a Lecture to Young Men It is after this interior wealth Of character that St. Paul is reaching, when he charges his son Timothy to stir up the gift of God which is in him. He is feeling for the sinews of strength in the soul of his young disciple. He reminds him of his pious ancestry. He seeks to make him conscious of spir itual endowments which he received by the grace of God in connection with his ordination. These gifts and endowments he is to stir up. The figure is that of fire, whose dull embers are to be stirred together and blown into a flame. It is as if he had said, God has done much for you, son Timothy; search for that interior wealth of grace and mental gifts which He has hidden in your bosom cultivate these; force them up to their highest development, and so make the most of yourself for your race and for your divine Master....
