Not illustrated. 1905 Excerpt: .and Ashton, both boys and girls, even though they make mistakes, indicate genuine interest and intelligence, and ought to persevere; and a good word must likewise be given to Woburn, Biggleswade (where a little more sympathy might be cultivated), Studham (where, however, there is bad confusion between the House-and HedgeSparrows), Barton Manor, and Kensworth. Here is a suggestive extract from one of the Ashton essays: -- The neighbourhood of Dunstable is noted for its skylarks. They are caught in large nets, often carried by two men. Professional Markers start their occupation about seven o'clock at night, and do not cease before one or two in the morning. During that time they can catch from 300 to 400 larks. These are sent to London, some alive in cages, and some dead ready to be sold in the poultry shops. It is reported that about 50,000 larks from Dunstable are sent to London annually. HAMPSHIRE. Hampshire gave great difficulty to the judges, the three schools placed first being of singularly even merit. The Bitterne Park girls, however, besides showing keen personal observation in their bird essays, sent exceedingly good Tree papers, with admirable drawings, and are awarded the Shield. The bird papers from Western School, Southampton, are remarkably full, correct, and painstaking, with indications of careful note-taking; so, too, among the Tree papers, is that on the sycamore. The Sandown (National) boys, if less detailed, give highly intelligent, clear, and accurate descriptions in their own words of...
