Tantalus, a cottage for the forester and quarters for the laborers were built. Upon investigation and looking over the survey, I was surprised to find that these buildings are on the Coney estate. However, by arrangement, our keeper is allowed to remain in his quarters, but I ask for an appropriation for building suitable quarters, and a shed, for him and an additional laborer on the Government land. The forest must be well looked after and I believe that can be done better by two men than one. The list of trees growing in this forest is quite a lengthy one. None of them have as yet arrived at maturity, as regards the timber quality; it will be several years before they do that. Hundreds of exotic forest trees have been experimented with, and given a fair trial in the forest, but without success. Seeds have been received from the Southern Slates, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, Australian Colonies, China and Japan. The trees from Australia have proved to be the most successful. It has been suggested that more useful trees ought to have been planted in the forest. Those planted will all be useful when they arrive at maturity. Application has been made to the United States Department of Agriculture. Division of Forestry, to send out an expert forester to investigate and make a report on the forests in this Territory. Anticipating the visit of this expert has somewhat interfered with my intention regarding...
