Not illustrated. 1888 Excerpt: .in the form of a youth, who wears a short skirt or kilt. From the top of his head there projects a peg or short stem, as in the Corchiano specimen shown in Fig. 3; and on the top of the peg is--apparently fixed--a bronze disc four inches in diameter, exactly corresponding with the loose disc from Corchiano. Careful examination shows, however, that there is a hole in the centre of the disc, and that a small rounded projection from the otherwise flat top of the rod fits into it, the edges of the hole being slightly curved upwards. Owing to oxidation, the disc now sticks to the rod; but I convinced myself that a very slight force would be sufficient to detach it. If it were to become detached (an accident which should, of course, now by all means be avoided), it would, when restored to its position, rest easily in its place; and yet, owing to the hole with which it is provided, it would not be thrown out of balance by any slight touch, as is evidently the case with the instrument now at Munich. This well-preserved specimen from Monte Luce was of some importance, as is evident, not only from the small refinement--just explained--for adjusting the plastinx, but also from the elaborate and fine ornamentation on the base, which is unfortunately detached from the rest of the instrument. According to my rough measurements the dimensions are as follows: Height of base or...
