Goggin, of Bedford, on Federal Relations: In the Convention of Virginia, on the 26th February, 1861 The order of the day, Resolutions touching the relations of the States to each other and to the Union, coming up for consideration, Mr. Goggin said: Mr. President, I should not ask the attention of this body today upon the great and important questions which now distract the country, were it not that I feel it to be my duty at this time, to express the views which will govern and control my action here. I have come here as a member of this body to endeavor, in such a manner as may seem proper to myself, to discharge the high, responsible duty which rests upon me, as one of those who have been clothed with the sovereignty and power of my native State. I have not, heretofore, as you will bear me witness, occupied one moments time and attention of this body, and I assure you, sir, that I now enter upon the performance of this duty, with many misgivings of my capacity to say anything that can be calculated in any degree to reflect even the smallest light upon subjects so momentous as those which not only agitate our own State, but this Union, from one extremity to the other. I came to this Convention, sir, to act as I may think proper, without pledges and without a platform. That word, of so much party significance, as it is sometimes elsewhere, can have no meaning here, for all those great questions to which some gentlemen seem to have thought it necessary to allude...
