Excerpt: . . . the inadequacy of these remedies were felt; and a commission of ecclesiastics appointed to enquire into the subject, reported to the crown, as the result of their deliberations, the opinion that in cases of adultery, malicious desertion, long absence, or capital enmities, the marriage should be dissolved, with liberty to the injured party to marry again; and that the remedy of divorce a mensa et thoro should be entirely abrogated and done away. But the changes thus proposed were not adopted; it is said, however, not from any want of confidence in their utility, but in consequence of a series of disasters, the principal one of which was the death of the King. (Bishop on Mar. and Div. sec. 278.) In that country, proverbial for cautious legislation, the law on the subject has not since been materially changed. And the result is said to be, that second marriages without divorce, and adulteries and the birth of illegitimate children are of every day occurrence, and that the crime of polygamy is winked at, although a felony upon the statute book. (Ib. sec. 285.) It is true that divorces from the bond of matrimony are sometimes had in that country, on application to Parliament; but in rare instances onlf, and at enormous expenses, --some three or more thousand dollars--quite beyond the ability of the mass of the people. The effect in most of the States of this Union has been to lessen these evils,...
