Excerpt: . . . in our opinion, reserving it for application to the enzymes which hydrolyze the celluloses proper, as recently studied by Omelianski (1902). These terms, pectinase and cellulase, have heretofore been used rather vaguely as synonyms of Griess term cytase, i. e. , as applicable to cytohydrolysts generally. If they be restricted to the more exact usage defined above, it leaves the words cytohydrolyst, or better cytolyt, and cytase as convenient and satisfactory terms for use in the broader sense to include in a general or indefinite way both of the above, and indeed any other related enzymes capable of hydrolyzing the cell membranes.
