Excerpt from Fur Seal Arbitration, Vol. 1: Proceedings of the Tribunal of Arbitration, Convened at Paris, Under the Treaty Between the United States of America and Great Britain, Concluded at Washington, February 29, 1892 Their mistake was not apparent until they had decided the fifth point and came to consider the subject of regulations. Having reached a conclusion in favor of the right of pelagic sealing, it became necessary, in their well-meant effort to reach a compromise between the conflicting interests, to frame such regulations as would, on the one hand, allow pelagic sealing to be carried on with profit, and, on the other hand, not seriously impair the seal herd. This insoluble problem doubtless occasioned them long and anxious deliberations and greatly delayed the final decision. The protocols show that the Tribunal was brought face to face with this problem. When Mr. Justice Harlan submitted a resolution to the effect that the purpose of Article VII of the treaty was to secure the proper protection and preservation of the seals, and that in the framing of regulations no extent of pelagic sealing should be allowed which would seriously endanger the accomplishment of that end, he and Senator Morgan recorded the only votes in its favor, the other arbitrators declining to vote or giving reasons why they could not assent to the declaration. The regulations as finally framed and promulgated are the result of an honest and conscientious effort on the part of the neutral arbitrators to do all that they conceived possible and necessary for the protection and preservation of the seal herd consistent with their decision on the fifth point. These regulations go much further than the provisions which...
