

Local Girl Makes History: Exploring Northern California's Kitsch Monuments (Paperback)

By Dana Frank

City Lights Books, United States, 2008. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. A historian's nostalgic trip to a series of local daytrip sites takes an unexpected turn as she explores the mysterious draw of these places. Childhood memories and urban myths lead to research into hidden stories, and what's revealed tells much about the politics of history-making. Writing in a personal, funny, and engaging style, Dana Frank brings the reader along on her process of discovery. Full of surprises and plot twists along the way, her adventures are quirky, fun, and informative. Each essay is accompanied by a map and illustrated with photos, news clippings, and memorabilia. Dana Frank is a professor of history at the University of California, Santa Cruz.

Reviews

Unquestionably, this is the best work by any author. Better than never, though I am quite late in starting reading this one. I realized this publication from my dad and I advised this PDF to find out.

This book is really gripping and fascinating. Of course, it is actually play, nonetheless an interesting and amazing literature. You will not feel monotony at anytime of the time (that's what catalogs are for about if you request me).
