Gray Company Publishers, 2006. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. #12 in the Milan Jacovich mystery series . . . In street parlance, the dutch is another expression for suicide. That s what everyone assumes happened to Ellen Carnine when her broken body is found 150 feet below the Lorain-Carnegie Bridge in downtown Cleveland. A terse, sad suicide note has been left on the screen of her home computer. But her grieving father asks private eye Milan Jacovich (it s pronounced MY-lan YOCK-ovitch) to figure out why a bright and successful, dot-com executive like Ellen took her own life. Milan is introduced to a different reality by Ellen s four best female friends, an old lover, her employers, and some of the lowlifes from Cleveland s meanest streets. The search for the truth leads Milan into the unfamiliar territory of Internet chat rooms, where he learns a great deal about the faceless people who live part of their lives behind a screen, becoming best friends--or bitter enemies--without actually meeting. Milan pushes too far--and uncovers the most brutal and heinous crime he s ever faced.
