Excerpt from The Latter-Day Saints Millennial Star, Vol. 68: November 22, 1906 Now, the testimony of Joseph Smith is not one whit more strange than was the testimony of Noah. Noah testified that the Lord had given him a revelation in which He called him to go forth and cry repentance to the people of his generation. Joseph Smith claims to have received a similar commission, and future events will prove that as it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be in the days of the Son of Man the testimony of Joseph Smith will be confirmed. It is strange, but true. It was the same with Joseph, the son of Jacob: the Lord revealed to him that he would in the course of time become a great and mighty man, a ruler among his people. How was his testimony received, even by the members of his own family? It was ridiculed; his brothers made mock of him; when they saw him coming they pointed their fingers at him and said: Behold, the dreamer cometh! Even his father was slow to believe him when he testified of the things which the Lord had revealed to him in a dream. Shall I and thy mother and thy brethren indeed come to bow down ourselves to thee to the earth? Asked the patriarch of his son, in an incredulous tone. It was such a strange thing that he could not believe it. But the day came when the Lord vindicated the truth of the boy s testimony, and exalted him far above those who had mocked him, so that they came and bowed down before him and begged forgiveness of...
