Sci. made on other expeditions of the Academy. The Guadalupe Island Pine The first collection of pine on Guadalupe Island was made by Edward Palmer in 1875 and was referred to George Engelmann, who named and described it as a new variety of the Monterey Pine, Pinus insignis var. binata (1880). According to Engelmann, the new variety had cones typical of the species, but had needles in pairs. In 1895 (p. 42), Lemmon transferred the varietal name to P. radiata Don, an earlier name of the Monterey Pine; and following Greene (1887, p. 413) and Brandegee (1888, p. 217; 1890, p. 145), he continued that confusion in names between the pines on the Californian and Lower Californian islands that persisted until recently corrected by Abrams (1923, p. 60) and by Mason (1930, p. 8). My opinion is that the only pine on Guadalupe Island is P. radiata, but Mason has more recently reported the occurrence there of P. muricata Don (1932, p. 51;...
